Newly Elected Nottawaseppi Huron Band of the Potawatomi Tribal Council Members Take Oath of Office

(Fulton, Mich.) Today, the Nottawaseppi Huron Band of the Potawatomi officially announced the newly elected Tribal Council Members, Dorie Rios, Tony Day, and Christine Lanning, along with issuing the oath of office and appointing seats on Tribal Council.

Upon completion of the oath of office, NHBP Tribal Council conducted its officers' appointments. Homer A. Mandoka and Jamie Stuck return as chair and vice-chair, respectively. Rios was appointed as secretary, Lanning was appointed as treasurer, and Day was appointed sergeant-at-arms.

The Nottawaseppi Huron Band of the Potawatomi presents a strong and stable government with a combined 22 years of Tribal Council experience. Mandoka, of Bronson, Mich., has served on Tribal Council since 2002, Stuck, of Scotts, Mich., has served on Tribal Council since 2006, Rios, of Battle Creek, Mich., has served on Tribal Council since 2010, Day, of Union City, Mich., has served on Tribal Council since 2012, and Lanning, of Newaygo, Mich., will be serving her first Tribal Council Term.
